CLOVER CULLINGS.

Clover, March 2 .- On Thursday evening the young people of our town spent quite a pleasant evening at the home of Mr. S. A. Sifford with his daughter, Miss Sallie, as hostess. The game for the evening was progressive rook and after several games were en loyed, cards were laid aside for re-freshments, which consisted of two courses, a salad course followed by:

Sweet course.

The young ladies proved most charming hostesses to the young men on Friday night at a reception given in the opera house. Music was rendered on the plano by Misses Louise Smith and Mildred Parrott. At a late hour a salad course was served and the guests took their departure after having spent a most enjoyable evening.

A Message From Out the Silence, Like A Flash From Out the Sky

By Rev. J. E. MAHAFFEY

Mysterious Visitor Enters Pastor's Study at Midnight-Relates Most Weird, Wonderful Story of Ages-How Eternity's Only Daughter Failed to Reach the Archives-Explains Real Cause of World War and Only Cure—Many Mysteries Unfolded.

Step by Step, the narrative threads its own peculiar way along new paths of light, from dismal depths of lizzy heights of world conditions, leading the entranced reader up to great viewpoints of truth and hope rooted in conscious certitude. Solemn in tone, and yet inspiring.

Why the Sun Stood Still at Gibeon, when two days came together and changed places—the first becoming last and the last first-is answered by the darkness at Calvary on the Wednesday that had two nights when Christ was crucified and Time was born again. Mysterious? Yes, indeed, but all made perfeetly plain, and, incidentally, refuting 7th-dayism. Mr. Mahaffey is a well known and popular writer. Some of his former readers may be surprised at such a book from him—so is he also. Nothing like it ever before entered his mind. It is a broad, vivid interpretation of the present crisis, a timely message to a groaning world, and the only prevention of such in the future. Every child of Adam should read it as soon as possible.

FERTILIZER RELATIVELY CHEAPER

Pound for pound, bushel for bushel, cotton, corn and other crops will buy more Fertilizer NOW than ever before. In other words the price of Fertilizer has not advanced as much as prices of crops, although there has been a shortage of Fertilizer materials, and heavier manufacturing cost.

FERTILIZER SAVES LABOR COST

Labor is scarce and high, but this disadvantage can be overcome in some measure by using Fertilizer. If there are to be greater food supplies, the intensive use of Fertilizer must be looked to rather than increased acreage which calls for more labor.
